Overall market environment

The Thai economy in 2024 gradually recovered at a slow pace, with expected growth at a modest 2.7%. The primary drivers are the normalization of government disbursement, alongside the continued recovery of the tourism and service sectors. The number of tourists is expected to increase to 35.5 million, up from 28.7 million in the previous year. Private sector consumption has shown some growth but began to slow toward the end of the year, particularly in durable goods, due to a contraction in bank credit. Meanwhile, industrial production continues to shrink due to reduced competitiveness in Thailand's key industrial products, particularly in the automotive sector. Inflation remains below the target range due to weak domestic demand.

The Thai Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) decided to lower the interest rate by 0.25 percentage points to 2.25% in October 2024. The primary rationale for this adjustment was to recalibrate the interest rate level rather than to initiate monetary policy easing cycle. The Committee maintained a positive view towards Thailand's economic and inflation outlook although the Thai economy faces heightened uncertainties in the near term due to U.S. trade policies. The slower pace of interest rate reductions has resulted in a narrowing of the interest rate differential. Nevertheless, uncertainties surrounding U.S. monetary policy, especially following Trump's election victory, caused the Thai baht to experience volatility throughout 2024.

In 2025, the Thai economy is expected to grow at an even slower pace, with growth remaining uneven across sectors. The tourism-related service sector will likely continue to expand, with tourist arrivals projected to increase to approximately 38 million, up from 35.5 million in 2024. However, the positive impact of tourism on the economy will diminish as tourist numbers near normal levels. The economy faces significant challenges in the coming year: (1) The industrial sector will continue to underperform, returning to low growth levels after consecutive contractions in 2024 due to reduced production capacity and declining inventories across many product categories, reflecting weakened competitiveness. (2) A slowdown in commercial bank credit will continue to pressure durable goods consumption, particularly for homes and vehicles. (3) Uncertainty from U.S. trade policies may further impact Thai exports. Given the weak economic recovery, low inflation, tight financial conditions from slowing credit growth, and poor credit quality, the Bank of Thailand is expected to further cut its policy interest rate by 0.75 percentage points in 2025, bringing it to 1.50%.

Key risks to Thailand's economic recovery in 2025 include: (1) Uncertainty surrounding U.S. international trade policies, which may affect Thai exports and the domestic production sector due to increased imports from China. (2) Intensified competition from Chinese industrial products and Thailand's declining competitiveness, which could further depress Thai manufacturing and negatively impact economic growth. (3) High household debt levels and rising non-performing loans, which may exacerbate the contraction in bank credit and further weaken durable goods consumption.

The auto industry in 2024 continuously declined compared to the same periods last year amid economic slowdowns. The total number of car sales for 2024 fell by 26.2% YoY, led by commercial vehicles sales which fell 27.9% and passenger car sales which fell 23.4%. This is due to deteriorating income and purchasing power outlook in tandem with the economic outlook. The second-hand car market also faced significant challenges in 2024 due to chronic household debt problems. As a result, car repossessions surged. The situation was further aggravated by intense price competition from Chinese automakers, which caused a sharp decline in used car prices and directly impact hire purchase business performance.

The Stock Exchange of Thailand (SET) Index experienced a slight decline, marking its second consecutive year of reduction, particularly during the first half and final month of the year. This downturn was attributed to Thailand's slow economic recovery, weakening economic potential, political and economic policy uncertainties, as well as concerns over corporate governance issues that dampened investor confidence. The market also faced capital outflows due to a persistent wide interest rate differential and diverging economic growth prospects. Despite some recovery in late 3Q24, driven by improving political stability and progress on the Vayupak Fund initiative, the SET Index at the end of 2024 closed at 1,400.21 points, down by 1.1% from 1,415.85 points at the end of 2023. The average daily trading value of securities on the SET and MAI (Market for Alternative Investment) markets in 2024 stood at Baht 46,551 million, a decline of 12.7% compared to Baht 53,331 million in 2023.

Operating results of the Bank and subsidiaries for the year 2024 and for 4Q24

For the year 2024, the Bank and subsidiaries reported a consolidated net profit of Baht 5,031 million, a decrease of 7.6% compared to 2023. This decline was primarily attributed to a reduction in net interest income, which fell by 11.0% as a result of the slowdown in loans following the Bank's asset quality management measures that focused on high-quality loans. Additionally, the increase in funding costs due to prevailing interest rate conditions led to a decrease in the loan spread compared to the previous year. However, expected credit losses improved in line with the enhanced quality of loans, which showed signs of improvement from the Bank's continuous asset quality management efforts over the past periods.

In terms of non-interest income, the Bank continued to generate good levels of income, resulting in a 7.5% increase in non-interest income YoY. For capital market business, fee income from wealth management and asset management business performed well, consistent with the growth in assets under advise and assets under management. Kiatnakin Phatra Securities maintained its position as the number one brokerage with a market share[1] of 22% for 2024. Additionally, the Bank saw an increase in net gain from financial instruments measured at fair value through profit or loss, as a results of market conditions. However, loan related income, particularly bancassurance fee, decreased in line with the Bank's measures to slow down loan growth.

Despite the challenges in the automotive industry that continued to impact the Bank's operations in 2024, particularly in the hire purchase business continuing from 2023, the Bank remained focused on accelerating asset quality management. The various measures implemented by the Bank over the past periods have shown positive signs, with expected credit losses gradually decreasing and performing better than the Bank's anticipated range. Losses from the sale of repossessed cars also improved slightly compared to the previous year. The Bank continued to exercise caution in setting aside provisions to address potential uncertainties, with expected credit losses for 2024 amounting to Baht 3,974 million, a decrease of 34.7% compared to the previous year, reflecting the improved quality of loans. As of the end of 2024, total allowance for expected credit losses to total NPLs ratio (coverage ratio) was at 134.2%. Overall asset quality remains within control with the Non-Performing Loans[2] (NPLs) to total loans ratio at 4.2% as of the end of 2024.

For the fourth quarter of 2024, the consolidated net profit totaled Baht 1,451 million, an increase of 116.7% from the same period in 2023, primarily due to a 36.0% reduction in expected credit losses. Losses from the sale of repossessed cars also decreased as the volume of repossessed vehicles gradually declined. Additionally, non-interest income increased by 55.3% YoY, driven by higher fee income from capital market businesses, including securities brokerage, wealth management, asset management and investment banking business. Additionally, there was an increase in net gain from financial instruments measured at fair value through profit or loss, in line with market conditions. This was offset by a 16.4% decrease in net interest income from 4Q23 level, due to a decline in interest income following loan slowdown measures and an increase in funding costs in line with interest rate conditions.

For 2024, net interest income amounted to Baht 19,848 million, a decrease of 11.0% compared to 2023. This decline was primarily due to the reduction in loan spread, driven by the increase in funding costs. Interest income totalled Baht 30,515 million, a slight decrease of 0.7% from the previous year, mainly due to the reduction in interest income from hire purchase and finance lease income following the contraction of hire purchase loans consistent with the Bank's measures to slow down loan growth, as well as lower income from purchased or originated credit-impaired loans (POCI) from a high base in the previous year. Meanwhile, interest expenses amounted to Baht 10,667 million, an increase of 26.6% from 2023, in line with rising market interest rates. The yield on loans was efficiently managed, increasing to 7.3% from 7.1% in 2023. However, cost of funds for 2024 also increased in line with market interest rates, rising to 2.5% compared to 1.9% in 2023. Overall, this resulted in the loan spread for 2024 narrowing to 4.8% from 5.2% in 2023

For 4Q24, net interest income decreased by 16.4% compared to the same quarter of last year, due to the reduction in interest income following the slowdown in loans, while funding costs also increased. Loan spread for 4Q24 lowered to 4.6% from 5.1% YoY.

Compared to 3Q24, net interest income decreased by 5.8%, mainly due to the reduction in interest income as a result of the slowdown in loans coupled with the decrease in interest rates during 4Q24 following the reduction in policy rate. Meanwhile, funding costs also exhibited a gradual decline.

Kiatnakin Phatra Securities maintained its number one position with a market share[3] of 22.45% for 2024. This was offset by a decline in bancassurance fee following the slowdown in loans, overall, resulting in a slight decrease of 1.5% in net fee and service income. Additionally, for 2024, net gains from financial instruments measured at fair value through profit or loss increased YoY due to market conditions.

For 4Q24, non-interest income amounted to Baht 2,163 million, an increase of 55.3% compared to the same quarter in the previous year. For 2024, operating expenses remained well-controlled and amounted to Baht 16,516 million, an increase of 3.9% from 2023. This increase was primarily due to item on revaluation of foreclosed assets where during 2023 the Bank performed revision on the allowance for impairment of foreclosed properties, leading to a reversal on the allowance for impairment of foreclosed properties where there is no such reversal item for the year 2024. Meanwhile, losses from the sale of repossessed cars for 2024 amounted to Baht 4,832 million, a slight decrease from 2023, in line with the gradual reduction in the volume of repossessed cars. Excluding items related to foreclosed assets, the cost to income ratio for 2024 remained efficiently managed at 44.0%.

For 4Q24, operating expenses amounted to Baht 4,065 million, a decrease of 11.3% YoY largely driven by lower losses from the sale of repossessed vehicles which for 4Q24 amounted to Baht 1,101 million, a decrease of 21.9% YoY, in line with the reduction in the volume of repossessed cars.

For 2024, the Bank maintained its prudent approach in setting aside provisions based on the expected credit loss (ECL) model, carefully considering various factors and potential impacts on loan quality which may arise as a result of the uncertain economic conditions and the challenges within the automotive industry. The expected credit loss for 2024 amounted to Baht 3,974 million, a decrease of 34.7% compared to Baht 6,082 million provisioned for during 2023. This reduction was driven by improved loan quality due to the Bank's continuous efforts in asset quality management and the better quality of new loans. Additionally, the lower provisions were in line with the slowdown in loan volume. The expected credit loss and losses from the sale of repossessed cars (credit cost) for 2024 represented 2.30% of average loans, down from 3.01% in the previous year.

For 4Q24, the expected credit loss amounted to Baht 914 million, a decrease of 36.0% from the same quarter in 2023, as a result of the Bank's ongoing asset quality management measures. Additionally, in 4Q23, the Bank had set aside additional provisions for a large loan customer, whereas in 4Q24, there were no such provisions. The expected credit loss and losses from the sale of repossessed cars (credit cost) for 4Q24 was at 2.18% of average loans, down from 3.12% in the same quarter of 2023.
